Ivory Carvings

From Vienna.

Of Surpassing Beauty.

We expected them to be fine, but did not anticipate such artistic perfection.

YOU have probably noticed a few pieces in the window, and will agree that every one is perfect in execution, and the subjects well chosen.

For pieces of such perfection, the prices are not high, ranging from about Ten Dollars up to Thirty.

We are also showing this week the

Vienna Miniatures on Porcelain, mounted in pretty bronze frames, the whole being perfect in execution, and well worthy a space in your cabinet.

These pieces are exceedingly modest in price, costing only Five, Six and Seven Dollars each.

SYNOD WANTS A SEAL FOR CHURCH CORPORATION

criticism of his act in appointing upon the committee to investigate the matter, three men who were opposed to the transaction, was one which he considered was fair and just in the premises. He gave as his reasons for making the appointments as he did that there were few out of the Synodsmen whom he could appoint, who had not had some connection in one way or another with the transaction, resulting in his choice as published. He said he could not admit that he had made any mistake as to the propriety of making these appointments. The Synod had heard the report of the trustees, also the statement of Mr. George Davies and his own as well, and consequently this required a committee entirely outside of all concerned, so far as this was possible.

Rev. Canon Kiteat read the report of the Diocesan Board of Missions for the Synod for the biennial period ending December 4, 1901. It was stated that the Board was called into existence in 1899, consisting of the Bishop, a standing committee of the clergy and laity members. It was the duty of the Board to devise ways and means for awakening interest in the missionary work in the Islands, to make appropriations and to raise money for the support of the clergy, etc. A balance of $11.55 was reported on hand.

A report on the Chinese Mission, St. Peter's Chapel, showed that meritorious work had been greatly impeded during the past two years by the withdrawal of financial assistance from the missionary society in London which has looked after this diocese in the past. The report was referred to a committee consisting of T. Clive Davies and Dr. Weymouth.

T. Clive Davies thought it would be a good plan to appoint a permanent auditor, when it was suggested that the various accounts which Rev. Canon Kiteat had presented, should be audited by a committee. The bishop stated that synods generally accepted accounts as presented, inasmuch as they were generally very carefully prepared.

Synodsmen Testa—"It is the committee's work to see that everything had been done free and above board."

When the Kohala parsonage matter came up under the head of unfinished business, Mr. Testa of that committee asked for further time in which to report, which request was granted.

T. Clive Davies gave notice of his intention to present a motion that the synod resolve itself into a committee of the whole to pass upon the by-laws.

Synodsmen Stiles gave notice of his intention to present a motion relating to the impending resignation of Rev. S. H. Davis, of Christ Church, Kona, Hawaii, where he had been in service for thirty years, and to discuss the question of making a financial settlement from a fund collected by Kohala district and now in the hands of the bishop.

Commander Pond moved that the charter of incorporation passed upon by the committee of the whole be adopted and handed to the Trustees, with instructions to apply to the civil authorities for its approval. The motion was carried unanimously.

The synod then resolved itself into a committee of the whole and considered the by-laws, which as amended, were passed article by article, as follows:

By-Laws of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Hawaiian Islands.

ARTICLE I.

Qualification of Directors.—Each of the seven Directors as provided in the Charter of Incorporation shall be, at the time of his election, a communicant of the church in this diocese or missionary district, and, if a clergyman, shall be holding the license of the bishop. Four Directors, with the president, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ARTICLE II.

Election of Directors.—The Directors shall be elected by ballot during the session of the diocesan synod, convention or other representative body of the church, to serve for one year, and until their successors are elected.

The secretary of the synod or convention shall notify the Directors personally or by mail of their election.

ARTICLE III.

Organization of Directors.—At a time and place appointed by the president, the directors shall meet and organize by the election of a secretary, who must be a director, and a treasurer, who need not be of their number, but shall be a communicant of the church in this diocese or missionary district. They shall likewise determine the number and times of their regular meetings, one of which shall be on the Saturday next before the day appointed for the meeting of the annual convention. Any vacancy occurring in the board of directors by resignation, death, absence from the Territory for more than three months, or legal disability, shall be filled by the board at a regular meeting thereof, or at a special meeting called for that purpose.

ARTICLE IV.

Duties of Directors.—The directors shall enter upon, take possession of, receive, hold and administer for the use of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese or missionary district of Honolulu, and subject to the constitution, canons, rules and regulations, all property, money and funds which the said church now owns or may acquire or become entitled to, excepting such property, money or funds as are now, or may hereafter be otherwise provided for or disposed of under the constitution, canons, rules and regulations of said church, or held by others upon trusts created by the donors thereof, or by operation of law. And they shall likewise enter upon, take possession of, hold and administer for the use of parishes, missions and congregations of said church and subject to the constitution, canons, rules and regulations of said church, all property granted or entrusted to the corporation for the uses of such parishes, missions or congregations, whether such property, money or funds be acquired or held for the use of churches, parsonages, hospitals, schools, colleges, orphan asylums, homes, cemeteries, or other religious, benevolent or educational purposes; provided, that said corporation shall not mortgage or alienate any real estate held by the said corporation without the consent of the bishop and standing committee of this diocese or missionary district; and provided further, that all churches held by the said corporation shall be used exclusively for the worship and religious services of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and according to the constitution, canons, rules and regulations thereof. They shall cause to be kept a complete record of all their acts and proceedings, and shall present to the annual convention a report and full statement of their acts and proceedings, and of the property acquired, received, disposed of and held by them.

ARTICLE V.

The President.—The president, or in his absence a commissary specially authorized on this behalf, who may or may not be one of the directors, or, if the See be vacant, the president of the standing committee, shall

1.—Preside over all the meetings of the board.
2.—He shall call special meetings of the directors whenever he may deem it necessary, or whenever he shall be requested to do so by two members of the board.
3.—He shall, with the secretary, sign and acknowledge all instruments affecting real property made by order of the board.
4.—He shall sign all checks for money drawn upon the treasurer by order of the board.
5.—He shall discharge such other duties for and on behalf of the board as they may authorize.

ARTICLE VI.

The Secretary.—It shall be the duty of the secretary:

1.—To sign and serve, or cause to be served, all notices of meetings of the directors provided for in the by-laws of the board, personally or by mail, at least ten days before the time of meeting.
2.—To keep minutes of the meetings of the board and a record of all its acts and proceedings, and a record of all property received by the board, and if disposed of, the disposition thereof; also an accurate account of all moneys ordered to be paid by the board.
3.—To countersign all checks drawn by the president upon the treasurer in pursuance of orders of the board.
4.—To sign and acknowledge all instruments affecting real estate made by order of the board, and attach thereto the corporate seal, of which he shall have the custody.
5.—To discharge all other duties pertaining to his office and such as may be prescribed by the board.

In case of his absence or inability to act, the president shall appoint some other member of the board to act as temporary secretary.

ARTICLE VII.

The Treasurer.—The treasurer shall receive and keep all funds and money of the corporation delivered to him by or under the direction of the board of directors, and pay them out only on the checks of the president, countersigned by the secretary. He shall have charge of all deeds of conveyance, leases, sentences of consecration, and other instruments touching the property of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese or missionary district of Honolulu. He shall make a careful entry in a book provided for the purpose of all lands conveyed to the corporation, with the date of such conveyance, and reference to the book and page in which said conveyance is recorded in the public records. He shall give bonds in such sum and manner as the board of directors may prescribe.

ARTICLE VIII.

Corporate Seal.—The directors shall procure a seal for the corporation and adopt the same by resolution. It shall bear upon it the words, such abbreviations of the "Protestant Episcopal Church in the Hawaiian Islands, 1862," and such device as the board of directors may adopt.

ARTICLE IX.

Certified Copies to be Furnished and Kept.—The secretary of the synod of convention shall furnish to the secretary of the board of directors a certificate of the election of directors by the synod or convention, a copy of these by-laws certified by him to be correct, and also a certified copy of the resolutions of the convention providing for the incorporation of the church; and whenever amendments, alterations or additions shall be made to these by-laws, the secretary of the convention in which said amendments, alterations or additions are made shall furnish certified copies thereof to the secretary of the board. The secretary of the board shall preserve the same and enter in a book kept by him for that purpose the said resolutions of the convention providing for such incorporation, these by-laws and all amendments, alterations and additions thereto, and the amended charter of incorporation, and a certificate to be furnished annually by the secretary of the convention of the election of directors for the ensuing year.

ARTICLE X.

These by-laws may be amended at any annual session of the convention.

When article 3 was called up, T. Clive Davies moved to insert at the end, "If he resign, die, become lunatic, or in case of legal disability," etc. The committee did not like the word "lunatic." They stopped short on that word, and it was finally stricken out of the amendment by the use of the phrase "legal disability."

As to bonding the treasurer some little discussion was occasioned. The Bishop said he had purposely left such a clause out of the draft of the by-laws, as there would probably be a very small sum for that officer to handle. The insertion of the clause, however, was voted upon favorably by the committee.

The corporate seal matter awoke the members to action. The draft contained the following form of legend for the seal: "P. E. Church," etc. "P. E." was out of all question, and after various methods of abbreviation had been suggested, it was decided to insert a clause in the article, referring the matter to the discretion of the board of directors. Henry Smith said if the word "Honolulu" was used on the seal, Kohala, Hilo and Waialuku might feel jealous. The wisest member of the synod humorously informed Mr. Smith that he represented Waialuku, and was sure that Walluku had no cause to be jealous of Honolulu. The by-laws were reported to the synod as having been passed, and were adopted by the latter body. An adjournment was taken until 7:30 this evening.

Monkeyshines in Graveyard.

KENOSHO, Wis., Nov. 24.—A monkey attired in red cap and white jacket, at large in a cemetery has caused a ghost scare. For a week past there have been repeated reports of a small figure, like a child, in the graveyard at night, and there have been cries like those of a hungry baby. Last night three girls who were passing were thrown into hysterics by the appearance of the figure on a fence. One of the girls, Matilda Borger, was nearly driven insane, and is still in the care of a physician. Today a posse of citizens searched the graveyard, and, though the monkey was seen in the barred entrance to a vault, all efforts to secure him were in vain.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

way he said there could be party harmony maintained and the danger of there springing up a faction which would try and split the vote would be greatly lessened. All through his address there was hearty applause, indicating that there was much sympathy with the sentiments expressed. There were speeches by several others, including Long, Emmeluth, Prendergast, Mahuka, Nakookoo and Bibikane.

In the course of the addresses there were many suggestions as to the measures which should be selected for the final endorsement of the committee as the vital ones in the event of the carrying of the next election by the Home Rulers. Among those mentioned were the County government bill, the taxation measure, the voting scheme, the abolishment of the militia, a loan plan and a measure for reforming land systems.
